Dear Jane Doe:

On [insert date], the Police Accountability Board (PAB) received your report regarding an allegation of police misconduct. We are writing to provide an update on the status of your report in light of recent developments affecting the PAB's investigative authority.

As a result of a court decision¹ limiting the PAB's ability to investigate individual allegations of officer misconduct, we are unable to move forward with a formal investigation into your specific case. However, the information you submitted has been forwarded to the PAB's Policy & Oversight Division for continued review. This division is responsible for identifying trends, patterns, and systemic issues within the Rochester Police Department's policies and practices. We appreciate you taking the time to bring this matter to our attention.

While we are currently unable to investigate individual complaints, your report plays a critical role in informing our ongoing oversight efforts.

If you witness or experience additional incidents of police misconduct in the City of Rochester, we encourage you to continue reporting them to our office. For updates and more information about the PAB, please visit our website at www.rocpab.org.

Sincerely,
